Cookies Policy

1. The entity that places information in the form of cookies and other similar technologies on the User's end device (e.g. computer, laptop, smartphone, smart TV) and obtains access to them is Authologic sp. z o.o. based in ul. Złota 59, 00-120 Warsaw, entered into the register of entrepreneurs of the National Court Register by the District Court for the Capital City of Warsaw. Warsaw in Warsaw, 14th Commercial Division of the National Court Register, under KRS number: 0000851095, NIP: 5223186837, e-mail: iod@authologic.com, hereinafter referred to as the Data Controller and Trusted Partners, i.e. identity verifications providers.

2. Cookies are IT data, in particular text files, which are stored on the User's end device. Cookies usually contain the domain name of the website they come from, their storage time on the end device and a unique number. Cookies are not used to identify the user and the User's identity is not established on their basis.

3. The publisher's website may place a cookie on your browser if your browser allows it. Importantly, the browser only allows a website to access cookies placed by that website, not files placed by other websites.

4. Each separate cookie is made up of four basic parts:

   a) name of the website, i.e. the name of the domain or subdomain that set the cookie;

   b) the unique name of the cookie assigned to it on the website that generates it;

   c) cookie expiration dates - some files expire at the same time as closing the browser (these are so-called session cookies), while other files are deleted automatically when the set expiry date is reached (so-called persistent cookies);

   d) value, that is information contained in the cookie that is used by the website to keep a register of previous visits.

5. Cookies contain basic information about Users (such as identifiers), as well as various types of data enabling the optimization and correct presentation of content on websites. The information stored in cookies is used for purposes such as:

   a) recognizing Users who log in to protected websites and thus gain the ability to use multiple websites without the need to enter the user name and password for each website;

   b) creating a register of User preferences, i.e. the browsing format and content viewed, without the need to set individual preferences each time you visit a given website;

   c) preparing a register of pages visited by users - on this basis, data is obtained that facilitates the introduction of improvements in the content visible on the pages, as well as in the way the page is navigated.

6. Cookies are also used for the following purposes:

   a) adapting the content of websites to the User's preferences and optimizing the use of websites; in particular, these files allow to recognize the User's device and properly display the website, tailored to his individual needs;

b) creating statistics that help understand how Users use websites, which allows improving their structure and content;

7. The website uses two basic types of cookies: "session cookies" and "persistent cookies". "Session" cookies are temporary files that are stored on the User's end device until logging out, leaving the website or turning off the software (web browser). "Permanent" cookies are stored on the User's end device for a period of time specified in the cookie parameters or until they are deleted by the User.

8. The following types of cookies are used on the website:

   a) "necessary" cookies enabling the use of services available on the website, e.g. authentication cookies used for services requiring authentication on the website;

   b) cookies used to ensure security, e.g. used to detect authentication abuses within the website;

   c) "performance" cookies, enabling the collection of information on how the websites of the website are used;

   d) "functional" cookies, enabling "remembering" the settings selected by the User and personalizing the User's interface, e.g. in terms of the selected language or region from which the User comes, font size, appearance of the website, etc.;

   e) "advertising" cookies, enabling the provision of advertising content to Users more tailored to their interests

9. When visiting the Data Controller's website, a window is displayed with a message that cookies are used on the website. If a person visiting the Data Controller's website selects the "I accept" option, it will mean that he or she has consented to all cookies on the website and confirms that he or she has read information about cookies, the purposes for which they are used, cases where information is passed on to third parties.

10. For "strictly necessary" cookies, consent is not required as these cookies ensure the full and continuous display of the content on the website.

11. If a person visiting the Data Controller's website does not want their device to use cookies, they can manage cookie selections by selecting them on the list of cookies used on the website - in the footer at the bottom of the page in the "Cookie Settings" tab. Changes/choices may affect the functionality of the website and may prevent you from receiving personalized offers or advertising.

12. A person visiting the Data Controller's website may change the cookies allowed or refuse the use of cookies at any time. You can opt out of all cookies except "required" cookies. Consent can be expressed or withdrawn by pressing the appropriate button (footer at the bottom of the page in the "Cookie Settings" tab).

13. The recipient of information from cookies placed on the website User's end device may include, among others: Google LLC.

14. The Data Controller may use Google Analytics and Universal Analytics services on the website provided by Google Ireland Limited (Gordon House, Barrow Street, Dublin 4, Ireland). These services help the Data Controller keep statistics and analyze traffic on the website. The collected data is processed as part of the above services to generate statistics helpful in administering the website and analyzing traffic on the website. This data is aggregated. By using the above services on the website, the Data Controller collects data such as the sources and medium of obtaining website visitors and their behavior on the website, information about the devices and browsers from which they visit the website, IP and domain, geographical data and demographic data (age, gender) and interests.

15. It is possible for a given person to easily block information about their activity on the website from being made available to Google Analytics - for this purpose, you can, for example, install a browser add-on provided by Google Ireland Ltd. available here: https://tools.google.com/dlpage/gaoptout?hl=pl.

16. The purpose and scope of data collection and its further processing and use by service providers, as well as the possibility of contact and the User's rights in this regard and the possibility of making settings to protect the User's privacy are described in the privacy policy of individual service providers: Google - https://policies.google.com/privacy?hl=pl.

17. It is possible to check in the most popular web browsers which Cookies (including the period of operation of Cookies and their provider) that are currently being sent by the website in the following way:

Browser	Steps to Check Cookies
Chrome	1. In the address bar, click the lock icon on the left. 2. Go to the "Cookies" tab
Opera	1. In the address bar, click the lock icon on the left. 2. Go to the "Cookies" tab
Firefox	1. In the address bar, click on the shield icon on the left. 2. Go to the "Allowed" or "Blocked" tab. 3. Click the "Cross-site tracking cookies", "Social networking trackers" or "Content with trackers" box
Safari	1. Click the "Preferences" menu. 2. Go to the "Privacy" tab. 3. Click the "Manage website data" box
Internet Explorer	1. Click the "Tools" menu. 2. Go to the "Internet Options" tab. 3. Go to the "General" tab. 4. Go to the "Settings" tab. 5. Click the "View Files" box

Regardless of the browser, using tools available, e.g. on the website: https://www.cookiemetrix.com/ or: https://www.cookie-checker.com/

By default, most web browsers available on the market accept cookies. The user can define the conditions for the use of cookies using the settings of his or her own web browser. This means that you can, for example, partially limit (e.g. temporarily) or completely disable the ability to save cookies - in the latter case, however, it may affect some functionalities of the website.

18. Internet browser settings regarding Cookies are important from the point of view of consent to the use of Cookies by the Data Controller's website - in accordance with the regulations, such consent may also be expressed through the Internet browser settings. Detailed information on changing Cookie settings and deleting them yourself in the most popular web browsers is available in the browser's help section and on the following websites (just click on the link):

    a) in the Chrome browser on computers: https://support.google.com/chrome/answer/95647

    b) in the Chrome browser on Android devices: https://support.google.com/chrome/answer/95647

    c) in the Chrome browser on iOS devices: https://support.google.com/accounts/answer/61416

    d) in the Firefox browser: https://support.mozilla.org/pl/kb/blokowanie-ciasteczek and https://support.mozilla.org/pl/kb/wylaczanie-ciasteczek-pochodzacych-z-innych-witryn

    e) in the IE browser: https://support.microsoft.com/pl-pl/help/17442/windows-internet-explorer-delete-manage-cookies

    f) in the Opera browser: https://help.opera.com/pl/jak-mozemy-ci-pomoc/preferencje-przegladania/#cookies

    g) in the Safari browser on devices with MacOS: https://support.apple.com/pl-pl/guide/safari/sfri11471/mac and https://support.apple.com/kb/ph21411?locale=pl_PL

19. We would like to inform you that restrictions on the use of cookies may affect some of the functionalities available on the Data Controller's websites.

20. Restricting the ability to set cookies may worsen the overall quality of using websites and may cause some of the website's functionalities to not work properly or stop working.

21. In accordance with applicable regulations, the configuration of the web browser that enables the installation of cookies on the user's devices is considered a form of confirmation of consent to the use of cookies.

22. Additional information about cookies and other technologies can be found, among others, at: allaboutcookies.org

23. The Data Controller has the right to change this cookie policy at any time.

24. Any changes to the cookie policy will be published on the Data Controller's website.